Report of the Budget Task Force

Trustee Ralph Lepore, Chair of the Budget Task Force, read the Report of the Budget Task Force (Attachment C).

Trustees discussed possible alternatives to the establishment of one fee of $98 per course for all regular graduate and undergraduate degree courses in the program of Continuing Education beginning with the 1995 Summer Session. The possibility of formulating a two-tiered fee structure for those students receiving the benefits of a tuition waiver deduction was considered and discussed.

President Weller noted that under the Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Continuing Education programs are required to be self supporting, with no revenues allocated from the State. DGCE contract approval has just been reached, following more than 18 months of negotiations, with retroactive salary increases due. The fee of $98.00 per course is being requested to assist the College in fulfilling the financial obligations of the DGCE contract.

Report of the Planning Task Force

Trustee Weinroth, Chair of the Planning Task Force, stated that members of the Planning Task Force met at 4:00 p.m. today, March 23, 1995, to continue discussion of the Strategic Planning process. Vice President Noyes, Chair of the Strategic Planning Steering Committee, reported that the three College Committees and five Overlay Committees have been meeting regularly. To assist the committees in this process, the Emeritus Room, located in the Whittemore Library, is being utilized as a resource room for members of the Board, faculty, administration, and students involved in the process. Vice President Noyes will research the feasibility of retaining the services of a consultant to assist in the planning process.

Report of the President

Vice President for Academic Affairs Helen Heineman distributed a list of departmental activities to Board members. She stated that faculty have been very active in lieu of the current collective bargaining status. Trustee Flaherty stated that there are many impressive accomplishments listed in the faculty activities booklet which reflects the high standard of faculty at Framingham State College. She expressed the importance of providing news media with this information to share with the public Framingham State College's high standard of quality education.

Trustee Seth Weinroth congratulated Vice President Heineman on the very successful "Retention Strategies for Campus Diversity" video teleconference, and for her continuing efforts toward enhancing diversity at the College.

... Student Services has completed two searches for a Director of Orientation Services and Campus Police Lieutenant, with recommendations for appointment submitted to the Trustees this evening.

... On February 4 and 5, 1995, I joined six members of the Student Services staff and 85 students at a coalition building leadership retreat in Falmouth, Massachusetts. The sessions were productive, involving a great cross-section of students.

... Thanks to the assistance of Director of Career Services Jackie Sproul, the first Job Fair was held on February 22, 1995. This event was very successful and well received, with over 45 companies represented and more than 260 students in attendance.

Dean of Admissions Services Philip Doohar distributed brochures of the April 1, 1995 Accepted Student Admission Program and Reception. Invitations have been extended to 1,762 accepted students to allow them the opportunity to meet with faculty, staff, and attend informative presentations being offered by the financial aid office and student clubs and organizations.

Applications for the Fall, 1995 semester are up 6.23% in comparison to the Fall, 1994 semester. To date, 275 applications have been received, reflecting a 12% increase in dormitory deposits over last year.

Director of Development Nancy Haverstock reported the following:

... Since the January 19, 1995 meeting of the Board, an additional $19,000 has been received in gifts and pledges from corporations and foundations.

... The Spring, 1995 edition of "FSC Quality", announcing the very generous donation of $1 Million received from an Alumna, is near completion and will be distributed the first week in April, 1995.

- ... The Annual Fund campaign reflects a total of $57,973 in pledges, with $37,596 received to date. Of the 14,000 alumni, calls were made to 6,658. Of the alumni contacted, 21% pledged a donation.
- ... Parent phonathons began on March 21, 1995 and are scheduled to continue through the end of April, 1995. Those not contacted through the phonathon will receive a year end mail appeal.
- ... The Alumni directory has been delayed until the end of May, 1995, with an additional 4,000 graduate school and continuing education alumni being added to the system.
- ... The Development Office and Career Services Office are working together to host a Student/Alumni Networking event on May 2, 1995. Alumni will have the opportunity to share their employment opportunities experience, and how they progressed from graduation to the present.

Director Haverstock expressed her appreciation to members of the Board who contributed to the Framingham State College Annual Fund. She thanked Trustees for their leadership and support which is critical to the efforts towards building a program of private support at Framingham State College.

President Weller expressed his appreciation to Trustee Chair Ramona Hilgenkamp for her strong leadership and guidance while serving as Chair over the past two years. He welcomed incoming Chair Ralph Lepore and thanked him for his willingness to undertake the responsibilities and challenges of Board Chair in the year ahead.

President Weller reported on the College Academic Centers in the absence of Executive Assistant to the President and Associate Vice President Michael Fiorentino, Jr.

The McAuliffe/Challenger Centers hosted a series of well attended events in honor of Remembrance Day on January 28, 1995. As part of the Bowie State University/Framingham State College Exchange, Dr. Claire Graham has been selected as this year's lecturer. Her presentation will be given as part of President Nathanael Pollard's Inauguration on April 9, 1995.

The Center for Global Education will be holding an all-day conference on "New Immigrants: Global and Multicultural Visions for Educators", on Monday, March 27, 1995. Dr. Ronald Takaki, internationally renowned expert in multicultural studies, will be the guest lecturer for this very exciting and informative conference.

President Weller reported the following:

- ... The Higher Education Coordinating Council's 6.6% budget is still being recommended. At their Administration and Finance Committee meeting held on March 21, 1995, a lengthy discussion concerning tuition and fee costs ensued. It was agreed to continue considerations at another Committee meeting prior to the upcoming meeting of the Higher Education Coordinating Council.

- ... Students from the Universities and the State and Community Colleges held a very organized and effective press conference at the State House on February 13, 1995.
- ... Public Higher Education Day at the State House is scheduled for April 11, 1995. Representatives from the Universities and State and Community Colleges have organized a well planned day of activities to include presentations and State House visits.
- ... Collective bargaining negotiations remain unsettled. As the result of an information request sent to the Office of Administration and Finance, a series of meetings have been held with the Offices of the Administration and Finance Secretary and the Higher Education Coordinating Council. Meetings continue to be scheduled, with representatives from the Administration and Finance Secretary's Office, the Higher Education Coordinating Council, and representatives from State and Community Colleges. We all remain very hopeful that a financial package will be forthcoming soon as a result of these negotiation and meeting sessions.

Chair Hilgenkamp recognized Dr. Robert Wallace, President of the Framingham State College Professional Association, in his request to address members of the Board.

Dr. Wallace expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to speak to members of the Board on behalf of the faculty and librarians at Framingham State College.

Dr. Wallace stated that this will be the last opportunity to address the Board as President of the Framingham State College Association as my term of office ends of May 1, 1995. At that time, I will be passing the torch to Professor Thomas Eames of the Chemistry Department, who will, I am sure, enjoy these meetings as much as I have.

I believe that this doffing of the mantle of power will be good both for me and for the Association. I will be able to turn from the absurdity of public sector collective bargaining in Massachusetts to the discipline in which I was trained - a discipline which, by way of contrast, posits that people are rational and organizations seek efficiency. Our Association will benefit from the new enthusiasms brought to the job by a fresh and unbloodied leadership. And, quite frankly, I have been repeating the same messages in forums like this one with such frequency and with such little effect that my words are beginning to sound hollow and nonsensical even to myself.

For what I have been saying for almost four years is that the provisions of a labor contract matter. A well designed contract can provide incentives to induce those governed to act in ways that are compatible with the interests of the institution. Those provisions can dampen destructive, self-interested behavior and can inspire cooperation which yields system productivity. The implicit property rights established by the labor agreement, if properly constructed and mutually agreed upon, can improve the flowers of knowledge throughout the organization and, certainly in the case of higher education, encourage the creation of new knowledge which can serve the public at large. In addition, a well designed and funded contract conveys clear signals that the performance of those covered under the contract is valued. To state the obvious, an employee that feels valued will be far more productive than one who feels denigrated and demeaned.

But you'll have to forgive me because I am being rational again. These seemingly obvious assertions are apparently not obvious to those that administer employee relations in the Commonwealth. Let us round up the usual suspects: Two years since the expiration of the last contract; seven years since the language of our contract has been altered; eight years since a negotiated general salary increase. The Higher Education Coordinating Council has to date refused to authorize an economic offer of any magnitude - they are working on it. Administration and Finance is requesting information. We are approaching the end of another budget cycle and demands upon the revenues of the State are increasing. And the Council of Presidents is sticking to proposals that the Association believes to be offensive and has engaged in no meaningful bargaining for months.

So what can we expect in my last month of office? Faculty and librarians are meeting next Monday, March 27, 1995, at every State College to determine the wisest course of action. There is depression and anger everywhere and next Monday will determine how these emotions will manifest themselves. If the Council of Presidents is identified as the enemy because of its chosen strategy at the bargaining table, a strategy that is at variance with that of the leadership of the Community Colleges and the Universities, and a strategy that has borne no fruit and all thorns, then we can expect nastiness on our campuses. If the enemy is perceived to be the Governor, due to his failure to direct his managers to move these labor contracts to completion, then perhaps all the constituencies of the Colleges - students, trustees, and employees - can participate in a political act designed to move Governor Weld.

I've enjoyed working with you in the pursuit of the interests of the College. My only regret is that neither of us have been successful in bringing our 1993-96 agreement to closure. I wish my colleagues, Professor Eames, and members of the Board a more fruitful partnership.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Ramona K. Hilgenkamp, Chair
Framingham State College Board of Trustees

Paul F. Weller, Executive Secretary
Framingham State College Board of Trustees

You will find in the materials previously distributed (Attachment IV) a statement by Chancellor Koplik made at the House Ways and Means Committee Budget Hearing on March 10th. The Budget process is continuing in the Legislature, and the House expects to make recommendations for funding during the month of April. You will also find in the materials distributed this evening an additional memorandum from Chancellor Koplik (95 Series - #29) summarizing the Governor's recommendation for funding. The Governor has recommended an overall decrease of 3.3% in the Higher Education Budget which the Chancellor expects to be "offset by new funding obtained through the Academic Challenge Grant Program and potential increased revenue received through Tuition Retention". Early indications from the House Ways and Means Committee are that Higher Education will be level funded. Some are predicting that a final resolution of the Budget will occur by the end of May.

Enclosed with the materials previously distributed (Attachment V) is a report submitted to the Chancellor by the Task Force on the Improvement of Fiscal Systems. Vice President Horrigan is a member of the Task Force. The overall thrust of the report is to provide the Chancellor and the Office of Administration and Finance with information concerning ways in which the Commonwealth could operate the administrative bureaucracy in a more efficient and timely manner. Recommendations appear on pages 17 & 18 of the report. Vice President Horrigan urges you to read this report so that you can have an understanding of some of the many administrative requirements State Government places on the College.

The Higher Education Coordinating Council met yesterday, March 22, 1995, to consider action on tuition. After a lengthy discussion a special meeting of HECC was called for Monday, March 27, 1995. It is anticipated the Higher Education Coordinating Council will not raise tuition and will recommend that College fees be increased between 0% and 2%.

In the material mailed with the agenda (Attachment VI) is a letter to the Massachusetts State College Building Authority from President Weller regarding College Residence Halls. President Weller and Vice President Noyes attended the HECC Administration and Finance Committee on Tuesday, and the President attended the HECC meeting yesterday. There was no recommended increase for the Framingham State College Residence Halls. Special recommendations regarding the financing of the Residence Halls will be made at the May meeting.

Attachment VII included with the agenda, presented information concerning the need for additional funding for Continuing Education. President Weller, Dr. Arthur Doyle and Dr. Josiah Cobbah presented specific recommendations which are included with the materials distributed this evening. At the conclusion of this report we will recommend that you approve an increase in Continuing Education fees.

As you are aware, Mr. W. E. Leonhard has established an endowment fund of one million dollars to honor his daughter-in-law, Marion Scherner Leonhard a 1965 graduate of Framingham State College. President Weller discussed the purpose of this gift, and we will ask you to approve the establishment of the Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Trust Fund at the conclusion of this report.

Vice President Horrigan reported that:

... A contractor hired by DCPO has made a temporary repair to the hole in the roof of the Ecumenical Center and has cleaned the inside of the building. Next week architects and engineers from DCPO will begin a detailed examination of the structure.

We have two votes for your consideration:

SUBJECT: Continuing Education Tuition Increase

The FY1996 budget for the Continuing Education Fund is currently being prepared. Vice President Horrigan indicated at the January meeting that it would probably be necessary to request an increase for this program in March because of publication deadlines for the Summer semester.

It has already become clear that we will have to request an increase in DGCE tuitions to bring this budget into balance. Several factors contribute to the need for this increase. Although tuition was increased by $5 per credit hour this January to provide funds for payment of the Fiscal Year 1995 faculty salary increases, the last increase prior to that was in July 1992.

The major factors contributing to our increased costs in FY1996 are explained below.

NEW DGCE CONTRACT

The recently negotiated contract with the DGCE faculty contains substantial salary increases, which in turn will increase our operating costs. The raises are large because they are the first adjustments in the base salary of DGCE faculty since September 1, 1989.

There are two components to the salary settlement. The first mandates a $200 increase in the base pay for all faculty not currently having "longevity." This adjustment affects approximately 36% of our faculty and is retroactive to September 1, 1994.

The second component of the salary package is a series of four pay raises, the first being a 6% increase applied retroactively to September 1, 1994, followed by three raises of 5% each, effective September 1, 1995, January 1, 1996, and September 1, 1996. The compounded raises will range from 22.7% for faculty with longevity to 33.5% for an Instructor not currently having longevity. In FY1996 our faculty payroll will increase by approximately 15%.

OTHER CONTRACTS

The negotiations with the AFCSME and APA units are not yet completed but will certainly contain salary increases retroactive to the beginning of FY1995. In addition, those staff not covered by contracts should be given pay raises in FY1996, although these will not be of the magnitude of the DGCE increases.

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

We plan to undertake a number of new initiatives in the DGCE area next year. They include increased funding for graduate program development, the establishment of a Professional Development Center to house courses and programs offered for teachers seeking recertification as well as other working professionals, a "Master Your Mornings" M.A. in Business Administration offering courses at 7:00 - 8:15 a.m., and offering Health Care Administration courses at local HMO sites for their staffs. In addition we are committed to producing a new Graduate Catalog every year, as opposed to every three years, and to printing program brochures for each of our graduate programs.

Our plans call for asking graduate program coordinators and advisors to assume additional responsibilities for curriculum development, monitoring student progress toward the degree, and participating in faculty evaluation and development. We are developing a new payment schedule to increase the stipends for these duties to match the increased responsibilities.

These initiatives are in response to studies of the last few years recommending the College invest additional resources in its graduate programs. They will require increased funding which must be generated from tuition income.

While the specific amount of the requested increase is still being calculated, I anticipate an increase in the area of $55 - $65 per course. Dr. Arthur Doyle and Dr. Josiah Cobbah will join us on Thursday to make a specific increase recommendation and to answer questions you might have.

The Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Trust Fund

Framingham State College

Pursuant to the provisions of the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, there is hereby established a Trust Fund at Framingham State College under the jurisdiction of the Board of Trustees of Framingham State College which shall be entitled, "the Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Trust Fund."

The Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Fund is established at Framingham State College in support of creative educational programming to improve teaching and student learning through programs offered by the College.

The Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Fund will be held in trust by Framingham State College or the Framingham State College Foundation as an Endowment Fund. Interest generated by the Endowment Fund will be used to support the program(s) of the Fund and to protect the principal of the Fund from erosion by inflation. The Fund balances must be maintained at or above the amounts contributed to form the Endowment Fund.

Income from The Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Fund will be used to support:

The Marion Scherner Leonhard Teaching and Technology Program.

This Program will provide assistance for teachers from the areas served by the College in developing their computing proficiency for use in the classroom, for designing new instructional techniques and programs, for improving teaching effectiveness, and for increasing student learning.

This Program will also be used to provide assistance to College faculty, staff, and selected students in developing computing proficiency for improving teaching and student learning.

Funds from the Endowment for The Marion Scherner Leonhard Teaching and Technology Program will be used primarily to support the costs of the instructors in the Program and to assist in supporting the expenses of the teachers enrolled in the Program.

This program is subject to change, upon approval by Marion Scherner Leonhard and the President of Framingham State College.

The Marion Scherner Leonhard Scholars Program.

If the funding for the Program described under The Marion Scherner Leonhard Teaching and Technology Program was no longer needed by the College, the funds from The Marion Scherner Leonhard Endowment Fund would be used to support The Marion Scherner Leonhard Scholars Program. Under this Scholars Program, scholarships would be awarded each year to several students. These Leonhard Scholars would do undergraduate research work under the direction of a faculty member during the academic year and/or during the summer. Stipends for Leonhard Scholars would depend on the number of Scholars selected and the amount of time worked by each Scholar. The stipends would be determined by the College President in consultation with Marion Leonhard and upon recommendation by the Advisory Committee for The Marion Scherner Leonhard Scholars Program.

The Advisory Committee would consist of five members appointed from Framingham State College faculty and administrators by the College President. This Committee would establish and administer the selection process for the Leonhard Scholars. Selection criteria for the Scholars would include: at least Sophomore standing; an overall grade point average of 2.5 or more; written recommendations from three Framingham State College faculty, staff, or administrators; a statement of agreement from the supervising faculty member; and a brief written statement from each student applicant describing interest in the Program.

Each Leonhard Scholar would agree to provide written description of their project upon completion of the award period. This description would be reviewed by the supervising faculty member and the Advisory Committee. Copies would be placed on file under The Marion Scherner Leonhard Scholars Program in the Department in which the Leonhard Scholar majored and in the College Library.

The Trust Fund shall be administered by the President of Framingham State College and/or a designee. Proper records and bank accounts shall be maintained in a manner consistent with proper accounting procedures for an enterprise of this kind and will be subject to audit and inspection by the Department of the State Auditor, other such agencies charged with such responsibilities and such additional internal audits as the Board of Trustees shall, from time to time, require.
